THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE (SHRI A. RAJA): (a) to (c) Ministry of Health and Family Welfare has sponsored National Family Health Survey (NFHS), during 1998-99, covering around 90,000 ever married women in the country.

As per the findings, about 28% of births occur within the interval of 24 months at all India level. Distribution of births by birth interval does not vary much by the socio-economic characteristics/communities.

As per the survey, in India, about 45% of the births are of the order of 3 and above during 3 years prior to the survey. In States like Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan more than 50% of the births are of order 3 and above while in Southern and Western States, this is less than 40%. The contribution of higher order of births 3 and above should be lowered in order to achieve small family norms as envisaged by National Population Policy, 2000.

(d) The efforts being made by the Government to control the high population growth rate are as follows:—

* An integrated and holistic programme for Reproductive and Child Health that include maternal health, child health and contraception has been in operation.
* Government has adopted a National Population Policy (NPP) in February, 2000, which provides for an inter-sectoral agenda to bring about population stabilization, with community involvement in administering family planning services.
* An Empowered Action Group has been constituted under the Chairmanship of the Union Health and Family Welfare Minister for focused attention on improving the coverage and outreach of services in demographically weaker eight States.
